

Minor International Pharmaceutical Studies

Are you studying Pharmaceutical Business Administration, Health Care, Chemistry, or Life Sciences?

Want to learn about medicine discovery and development? This minor helps you to become a competent partner in written reporting and professional English conversations. You will work in a project team on the discovery and development of a fictive medicine in your disease of interest and will go on field trips!

Identify a molecular target to address an unmet medical need...

...describe preclinical experiments on pharmacokinetics, toxicology and formulations...

...design clinical trials to confirm safety, efficacy and make the medicine available to patients.
